

Ed Cabellon

Ed builds communities, develops leaders, and integrates emerging technology and social media on college campuses.

Ed Cabellon is a dynamic Student Affairs professional in Higher Education. For the last 13 years, he has been on the cutting edge of leadership development and educational technology integration. He has worked and lead Student Affairs departments such as Residence Life, Student Activities, Greek Life, and Orientation. He has worked professionally at the University of New Hampshire, Central Connecticut State University, Tufts University, and currently serves as the Director of the Rondileau Campus Center at Bridgewater State College in Massachusetts.

Ed's passions for Leadership, Technology and Education are the central focus of his company, "LTE Consulting, Inc." He delivers dynamic keynote addresses, engaging workshops, and provides creative technology consulting at over 20 universities a year. Consistently, has been highly rated and recommended by faculty, staff and students. He shares his thoughts on the intersection of emerging technologies and Higher Education on his blog at "edcabellon.com" and serves as a guest blogger on the Student Affairs Blog at "thesabloggers.org".

Ed earned his Bachelor of Arts degree in Communication from Stonehill College (MA) and his Master of Science degree in Educational Leadership from Central Connecticut State University.

Ed is New England born and bred, with Filipino heritage, and currently resides in southeastern Massachusetts with his amazing family. Ed is an avid golfer, lowering his handicap (15) every year. Ed is also a passionate Boston sports fan, avid Fantasy Football commissioner, and is vertically challenged.

For more information on Ed and how to book him for your organization, please visit the "Speaking" link on this blog at <http://edcabellon.com/speaking>.